The diagram illustrates the GitHub sign-up form layout with the following labeled components:

- userLabel: Points to the Username label above the input field.
- userEmailLabel: Points to the Email label above the input field.
- userPasswordLabel: Points to the Password label above the input field.
- signUpBtn: Points to the Sign up for GitHub button.
- userNameInput: Points to the Pick a username input field.
- userEmailInput: Points to the Your email address input field.
- userPasswordInput: Points to the Create a password input field.
- link: Points to the terms of service and privacy statement links.

The form includes three input fields: Pick a username, Your email address, and Create a password. Below these fields, a line of text reads: "By clicking 'Sign up for GitHub' you agree to our terms of service and privacy statement. We'll occasionally send you account related emails." The terms of service and privacy statement are highlighted in green boxes with green arrows pointing to them from the label link. The Sign up for GitHub button is a green rectangle with white text.
